PDSA volunteer nominated for award

A DEDICATED volunteer has been shortlisted in the PDSA's annual volunteer awards.

Robin Lewis, who works at the PDSA in Station Parade, Barking, has been nominated in the New Volunteer of the Year category for his outstanding passion and commitment.

Robin, who is originally from a quiet Welsh village, joined just three months ago and fitted in perfectly at the store, which raises vital funds to help sick and injured animals.

He said: "I am delighted to be nominated for this award. I love volunteering and would recommend it to anyone. It's given me a sense of purpose and an opportunity to learn new skills and a better understanding of how important PDSA is to the local community."

Robin volunteers three times a week and was nominated by store manager, Sarah Bargas.

She said: "Robin has really taken to his role on the shop floor and is a jovial person and fits in well with other volunteers. He is well liked by the rest of the volunteers here and many of them are always extra pleased if they know Robin is coming in to help us out."

The PDSA's annual volunteer awards, which are supported by The National Council for Voluntary Organisations (NCVO) and Pets at Home, are now in their 11th year.

If you would like to join the PDSA's volunteering team please contact the National Volunteering Centre on freephone 0800 854 194 or visit www.pdsa.org.uk/volunteers

SCHOOL PLAN FACES LEGAL CHALLENGE

Delay as court considers whether to grant judicial review

By Paul Peterson

redbridge@yellowad.co.uk

PLANS to take over the running of Warren Comprehensive School have hit the stumbling blocks.

The proposals to set up an Interim Executive Board (IEB) have been delayed after the school's governing board and Barking and Dagenham Council filed a legal challenge at the High Court.

Her Hon Mrs Justice Carr DBE has ruled that the IEB cannot be established at the school, in Whalebone Lane North, until the court has considered whether or not to grant judicial review.

Barking and Dagenham councillor John White, cabinet member for children services, said: "We welcome the court's decision and agree with the judge that this is a very significant matter. We are grateful that the concerns of the council and the governing body will be examined by the court."

The school is set to be turned into an academy by education secretary Michael Gove MP, but the governments and council argue that the move will have a negative impact on children's education.

Cllr White added: "We feel strongly that now would not be a good time to disrupt the school."

The dispute comes just a week after a row over the Dorothy Barley Junior School as council leader, councillor Liam Smith, called for the government to publish the results of a public consultation.

He said: "The views of parents and children are important and should be considered before any changes are made as they are the ones who will be affected. The council, parents and teachers should be given a say and other options should be considered rather than have it imposed on them."

But a government spokeswoman said: "The school has had serious problems for some time and Ofsted judged it to be inadequate and requiring special measures for the third time in eight years. We cannot stand by when a school continues to provide an unacceptable standard of education."

A brush with colour

A GROUP of artists have spruced up their HQ thanks to a donation from a DIY store in Barking.

The Studio 3 Arts team brightened up Galleon Community Centre, in Boundary Road, Barking, using tins of paint donated by the Dulux Decorator Centre as part of the Dulux Let's Colour Project.

The art club, which recently moved into the community centre, used bold shades of blue, black, red and yellow to paint a distinctive design, which was created by fellow artist Maria Slovakova.

Rosie Ross, interim artistic director of Studio 3 Arts, said: "When we moved into the Galleon Community Centre we knew a lot of work needed to be done to transform it into a creative and dynamic space. We try to add colour to people's lives with creativity, so it made sense to add colour to our walls too. Our vision is now really starting to take shape and the centre looks fantastic."

The Studio 3 Arts project has been running for more than 25 years and provides various creative activities including theatre, dance groups, digital performance and larger-scale public art projects.

Kerrilee Jay, store manager of the Dulux Decorator Centre, in Alfred's Way, said: "A bit of colour has really brought the centre to life, which should encourage lots of people to visit and get creative and will help continue the Studio 3's good work in the community for many more years to come."

Nora hopes book will help inspire others

A RETIRED nurse from East London has written a book about the trials and tribulations of her life.

Nora Cox-Quinn, of Digby Road, in Dagenham, decided to write the book 'Sink or Swim' to help people going through troubled times and to give her two grandsons an insight into her troubled past.

The 66-year-old, who taught herself to read and write, said: "I've been through a lot of tough times in my life and I felt writing the book would be a good way of helping me come to terms with them."

"The book deals with difficult subjects including domestic violence, alcoholism, cancer and the suicide of my son James in 1992 when he was 22."

Nora, who was born in Ireland in 1947, lived with her sister and their parents and grandmother.

It was when Nora was 18 that life totally changed.

She explained: "I remember being sat by the fire with my grandmother one Friday when suddenly out of the blue she looked up from her newspaper and told me 'You will be in England with your cousin on Monday'. She gave me the money for my fare and just went back to reading her paper."

Nora found herself in England days later with her cousin working as a nurse at St Joseph's Hospice in Edmonton. She met James Quinn on the trip over and the couple later married before moving to Dagenham where she worked as an auxiliary nurse at the local hospital before she retired in 1988.

Jim was a violent alcoholic, but Nora nursed him through cancer for 10 years until he died in 2006.

Nora hopes her book, which is available on Kindle, will be an inspiration to anyone who reads it.

She added: "I hope my story will inspire other people who have suffered especially if someone like me, who was completely uneducated, can get through tough times and go onto write my own book.

Awards nominations

STAFF at Barking and Dagenham Council are celebrating after being nominated for two awards.

The council and its partners has been short-listed for this year's Local Government Awards in the public/private partnership category and the good governance category.

The finals will take place at the Grosvenor House Hotel, in Park Lane, on Wednesday, March 12.

Fancy a game of rounders?

FAMILIES are invited to take part in a rounders match from this Saturday.

The one hour sessions will take place from 2pm at Becontree Heath Leisure Centre.

Prices range from £2 per person to £5 for families of six.

For more information call 020 8227 3984.

New CCTV

A NEW CCTV system was officially unveiled at the Hainault Business Park last Friday.

The £71,000 cameras, which feature Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR), have been fitted to improve security for the 120 businesses on the site in Forest Road, Ilford.

The state-of-the-art system was paid for with a grant from Redbridge Council, but the running costs will be funded by the Hainault Business Improvement District (BID).

Thieves snatch sausage dog, his bed and even his hot water bottle

By Paul Peterson

waltham@yellowad.co.uk

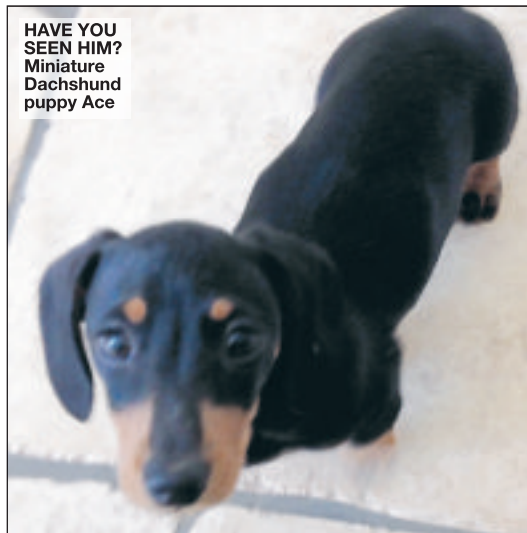

A DISTRAUGHT pet owner is appealing for help after her 14-week-old puppy was snatched from her car.

Loren Purdy, 27, of Woodford Green, has been left devastated after Ace – a miniature Dachshund puppy – was stolen from High Beech, near Loughton, between 4pm and 5pm on Sunday, January 5.

Project manager Loren said: "I am just completely gutted and can't believe someone would take our dog.

"I'd only had Ace for a few weeks after my boyfriend Sean bought him for me as an early Christmas present."

Loren and Sean, 29, who runs a nightclub, had taken Ace out for a long walk at High Beech when they decided to stop off for something to eat at the Kings Oak Hotel in Paul's Nursery Road. But when they returned to their black Smart car they were shocked to find Ace had been stolen.

Loren added: "We'd made sure Ace was dry and I had wrapped him up in my pashmina and we left him with a toy in the car. We were only gone an hour, but when we came back he had been stolen.

"People said we shouldn't have left Ace in the car, but lots of owners do. We just hope someone out there can help us find him. My mum has even been putting up posters appealing for information."

The thieves not only stole the £800 puppy, but also took his bed, blankets and a hot water bottle. Loren said Ace is mainly black with tan feet and tan markings on his chest and above his eyes.

Police urge for anyone with information to call 101 or Crimestoppers free and anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Now whippet – whippet good

PHOTOGRAPHER Diane Brown has just been told she is in the running for Photographer of the Year.

Diane, from Havering atte Bower, could win the pet category of the prestigious Society of Wedding and Portrait Photographers annual awards.

She is one of just six professional photographers across the UK in contention for the award.

The nomination follows the submission of her endearing photograph of two 11 month old whippet dogs.

The same image also won her a coveted gold award from the SWPP in November.

An established and award-winning photographer, usually renowned for her maternity and newborn Diane said her love of animals and professional experience of capturing the personalities of her photographic subjects thought she should enter the competition.

Diane said: "Pets are as much a family member as a spouse or child so I've recently added pet photography, or pawraits as a natural extension of what I do."

"I genuinely love having animals in my studio although it can certainly be a challenge to achieve the perfect photograph! I strive to bring out the uniqueness of each pet and in turn, create an endearing image which will be treasured by the

The SWPP is a membership organisation which represents both UK and international professional photographers.

Its annual awards are a highlight of the industry's events calendar, and the winners of the 2013 awards will be announced on Saturday January 18 in London.

motoring news

A flood of concern

By Ian Johnson

RECENT severe weather is prompting many motorists to check their insurance cover.

There are thousands out there who drive on what is generally known as "third party, fire and theft" cover and in most cases this does not include flood damage.

One comparison site Gocompare.com is urging customers to check whether their car insurance covers water damage to their vehicle. Drivers with comprehensive insurance policies a most likely covered for this.

However, a study by the comparison site found that 13 per cent of UK drivers opt for a "third party only", or a "third party fire and theft" insurance policy, which means they would not be able to claim should their car be damaged by flooding.

Many choose these kinds of cover as traditionally it has been seen as cheaper. In reality the difference in price between third party fire and theft and comprehensive is often minimal, and comprehensive cover can be significantly cheaper than taking out a third party only policy. This is due to some insurers viewing drivers looking for comprehensive cover as being more concerned about the wellbeing of their vehicle, and therefore more likely to look after it.

And recent floods mean that there are a number of flood damaged cars on the second-hand market because not all drowned-out cars are write-offs.

Some drivers without adequate insurance have just dried out their cars and sold them on, but these vehicles may house some expensive and sometimes dangerous faults.

For instance, catalytic converter and exhaust system life might be reduced; wheel bearings could seize; brakes, alternator or starter motors could fail; airbag electronics could be seriously affected making airbags go off without cause or not work at all.

So if buying a car from a private source always be cautious if there is water trapped in the light housings or there are massive amounts of condensation in the car.

Always check if the airbag warning light is functioning and seek an explanation if there is water in the spare wheel well or if the car smells unduly of damp.

CONFIDENT O's LOOK STRONG

Orient

Leyton Orient 4 Carlisle United 0 Sky Bet League One By Rowland Lyons

LEYTON ORIENT maintained their promotion push after a comprehensive victory against the struggling Cumbrians last Saturday.

Scott Cuthbert, Jamie Ness, Kevin Lisbie and Shaquille Coulthirst ensured the goals were shared around a team full of confidence after a fine midweek win at Shrewsbury.

In an opening 45 minutes where the O's totally dominated with United's keeper, Greg Fleming, playing a blinder denying Robbie Simpson and Kevin Lisbie, and Mathieu Baudry twice being denied by desperate goal line clearances, Cuthbert showed his colleagues the way with a bullet header on the stroke of half-time to relieve the expectant home crowd's nerves.

Indeed, the O's should have doubled their lead in stoppage time when Moses Odubajo's fine headed effort was ruled out due to a Baudry foul.

But, the rampant O's didn't have to wait long as Ness got his side's well-deserved second within two minutes of the restart with a rasping left-foot volley that completely deceived Fleming and rebounded home via his far post.

Lisbie then put the Cumbrians out of sight midway through the half with a fine finish after Lloyd James helped the ball back from a half-cleared free-kick.

Carlisle – who could yet be sucked into a relegation dogfight – offered very little in response with only a late Max Ehmer miskick barely troubling the competent Eldin Jakupovic in the Orient goal.

Orient – despite their cast-iron lead – kept trying to improve their impressive plus 27 goal difference and were rewarded in stoppage time when loan-man, Coulthirst, rounded the hapless Fleming and crashed home the fourth goal of what turned out to be the O's second double of the season.

Having now at least guaranteed League One survival already, with 54 points, boss Russell Slade said:

"Obviously, it has been a busy and big week for us; it was a late night on Tuesday. It was nice to be back at home and we created an awful lot of chances. The energy and attitude we showed was fantastic. The encouraging thing was the creation – which continued throughout the game – and the chances that went begging and fortunately – in the end – we capitalized".

Slade concluded: "We want to be strong at home and so we proved today – and not having played here for four games – it was important to get the win. These are great times for us at the minute – and things are going well – we just have to make sure we stay on track and grounded with everything we do – every game – with the same attitude and same commitment".

Lisbie added: "It was 'massive' for us today having been away from home in recent weeks. It was nice to come here and give our fans something to cheer about and I thought we started the game well and finished it well".

A crestfallen Graham Kavanagh, admitted: "I am very disappointed. We conceded sloppy goals either side of half-time – and that was having held out for 42 minutes. But, I thought Orient were the better side – especially in the second-half – when we became so ragged – mainly in possession and then confidence becomes a factor in the game – players make the wrong choices – all in all it's a very poor performance. We need to work hard to see where we're going wrong and try and get to 54 points as quick as possible to ensure survival in this league".

■ Orient travel to Crewe Alexandra on Saturday (kick-off 3pm).

LEYTON ORIENT: Eldin Jakupovic – Scott Cuthbert, Mathieu Baudry, Nathan Clarke (captain), Elliot Omozusi – Moses Odubajo, Lloyd James, Marvin Bartley (Jamie Ness 32), Dean Cox – Kevin Lisbie (Jamar Loza 72), Robbie Simpson (Shaquille Coulthirst 82), Subs (not used): Gary Sawyer, Jake Larkins (gk), Harry Lee, Yohann Lasimant.

Disappointing Daggers lack a cutting edge

Dagenham & Redbridge

Dagenham & Redbridge 0 Fleetwood Town 1

Brian Jeeves reporting from the London Borough of Barking & Dagenham Stadium

DAGENHAM & Redbridge's play-off ambitions suffered another blow as Fleetwood Town won a lacklustre affair at Victoria Road.

Daggers went into the game having won just one of their last six games. However, they still sat handily in tenth place, just four points from the top seven. Manager Wayne Burnett used his programme note to express his satisfaction of the team's last home performance against AFC Wimbledon, and what with high flying Fleetwood wobbling of late on the road, hope sprung eternal that the Daggers could recapture their early season form and get their promotion push back on track.

On a bright but chilly afternoon, early exchanges were untidy. Fleetwood were first to threaten when Jeff Hughes sent a crisp low drive just past an upright with Daggers goalkeeper Chris Lewington at full stretch. The home side responded, but a neat interchange between Rhys Murphy and Dominic Samuel failed to penetrate the ridged visitors rear-guard.

Fleetwood were moving the ball around with slightly more confidence. Hughes headed wide from Steven Schumacher's corners while Brian Saah had to be alert to cut out a dangerous centre from David Ball.

Soon after, Lewington had to fist clear another Schumacher flag kick as the Cod Army continued to press.

The Daggers rallied. Town keeper Scott Davies had to race from his area to thwart Murphy, then Nathan Pond headed behind after Zavon Hines drove in from the left.

Fleetwood will believe they should have taken the lead when Hughes found space for a strike but Lewington was alive to the situation and did well to save with his feet.

With the action hardly raising the pulse, the crowd of 1,659 didn't have much to chew the fat over, nevertheless, home followers amused themselves by dishing out some good natured mockery towards Fleetwood's larger than life journeyman Jon Parkin. The Town man responded to their 'portly' jibes by doing sit-ups in front of them during a break in play. In an age where football seems to take itself too serious it was good to see a real character of the game playing up to the terraces, and those in the enclosure showed their appreciation with a roar of laughter and a round of applause for the visitors front man.

As the interval approached, both teams had half chances. Town's Antoni Sarcevic flashed an effort wayward, this after the Daggers back line had half cleared a centre from the left. Then Zavon Hines showed his class down the flank, skipping past two challenges but seeing his fierce shot charged down by Pond.

The half time brew clearly lifted the home side who started the second period the brighter. Gavin Hoyte and Murphy combined create an opening for Hines, but the talismanic Daggers man saw his low drive deflected behind with Davies stranded.

Dagenham passed up a glorious opportunity to break the deadlock when an unmarked Saah headed Hines pin-point free kick directly into Davies' midriff. Soon after, Saah was in the thick of it again, this time lashing clear as Parkin lurked menacingly.

Zavon Hines was not at his best but was still involved in the Daggers paramount moments. Only a Fleetwood entourage on the line denied Scott Doe after he'd met another inviting cross from the former West Ham man.

Nevertheless, the visitors had weathered the Daggers storm, and with little more than fifteen minutes to go they pinched the all-important goal. Sometimes the drabdest encounters can be crystallised by one single moment of quality, and this proved to be the case. Sarcevic's centre found David Ball who produced a neat turn and shot beyond Lewington and into the bottom corner of the net, much to the delight of the small but hardy band who had made the long trip down from the North West.

Dagenham looked for an immediate response. Substitute Medy Elito couldn't get enough on Lawson D'At's cross, then another centre from Hines eluded the onrushing Afolabi Obafemi.

Fleetwood had a couple of great opportunities to kill the game. Firstly, Mikael Mandron got away from Doe and clipped over Lewington, however, Saah was quick to react and cleared the danger. Soon after, Sarcevic beat Lewington with an exquisite chip, but his effort dropped agonisingly wide of the target.

Then in the games burning embers a controversial moment. Daryl Murphy lifted the ball over keeper Davies only for Fleetwood skipper Mark Roberts to somehow hook off the line. Daggers players and the fans behind the goal were convinced that the effort had crossed the line, and an incensed Murphy was shown the yellow card by ref Mr Sheldrake for the ferocity of his protest.

Fleetwood saw out the remaining minutes without any further concern to pick up an important three points. For now, Daggers seem to have hit the wall following an encouraging start to the campaign, perhaps teams have got wise to the team labelled by many as League Two's surprise package. One certainly hopes they can rediscover their spark soon so the season doesn't disappointingly fizzle out.

Dagenham & Redbridge will look to get their Sky Bet League Two campaign back on track when they visit Newport County on Saturday January 18, kick-off 3pm.

Bleak day for sides

Non-league round up by Brian Jeeves
THERE was late drama at the Prospects Stadium where Canvey Island snatched three important Ryman Premier League points in an entertaining encounter with Wealdstone.

Jason Hallett gave Canvey an early lead before goals from Tom Pett and Jonathan Wright turned the game on its head in favour of the Stones. With time running out, Tom Strickland fired the Gulls level. Then in injury time, Nick Humphrey sent the majority of the 402 into raptures with a dramatic winner.

Canvey aside, it was a bleak day for the regions Ryman Premier clubs. East Thurrock United went down 3-1 at Bognor Regis Town while Grays Athletic fell to a 90th minute Fabio Saraiva strike at home to Maidstone United. And it was bad news for AFC Hornchurch too. The Urchins went down 2-1 at Metropolitan Police.

There was disappointment in the Ryman North with Brentwood Town crashing 5-1 at Harlow Town and Waltham Forest losing 4-1 at Soham Town Rangers. Charlie Liddiard found the net twice for Barkingside, However, æSide went down 4-2. Burnham Ramblers were our only team to pick up so much as a point. Neil Richmond's goal securing a 1-1 draw with Dereham Town.

There was mixed fortunes for our Skril Conference South Clubs. Concord Rangers recorded an impressive 3-1 win over Hayes & Yeading United at the Aspect Arena. Goals from Tony Stokes (2) and James White cemented the win. But it was bad news for Chelmsford City who suffered their first defeat under Mark Hawkes management as visitors Sutton United grabbed a 2-0 win in front of another impressive Melbourne Park crowd of 717.

The Essex Senior League was once again decimated by the wet conditions with only three games surviving. Great Waking Rovers returned to the top of the table with a 4-2 triumph at 10-man FC Romania with Lewis Sparrow, Dan Trenkel, James Pugsley and Jay Smith finding the net for the Villagers.

Tower Hamlets joined the championship chase, winning a rip-roaring local derby at London APSA by the odd goal in three, Luke and Bradley scoring for the visitors. The other ESL games between Takeley and Greenhouse London ended goalless.
